I want it all to appear before my eyes when he smiles
Maybe I'm wrong but I don't think Romeo would be my kind of guy

I want a love that's sweeter than roses

And for me this is how it's gonna be

Like there's a fairytale guy

And he whispers sweet lullabies

And the music plays from nowhere

As we dance in the pale moonlight

With candles and fireflies all night

Everybody thinks about love

I want love they haven't thought of yet

Here on the couch with a box of chocolates that I bought myself

I'll wait it out but sometimes my patience just needs a little help

It's what you get when your heartstrings are so tied

I don't regret it 'cause it needs to be perfect

Like there's a fairytale guy

And he whispers sweet lullabies

And the music plays from nowhere

As we dance in the pale moonlight

With candles and fireflies all night

Everybody thinks about love

I want love they haven't thought of yet

I want my own little storybook ending

We'll make it up as we go

There's a fairytale guy

And he whispers sweet lullabies

And the music plays from nowhere

As we dance in the pale moonlight

With candles and fireflies all night

Everybody thinks about love

I want love they haven't thought of yet

I want love they haven't thought of yet
