She acts like shes 5 years old since its cold shes got her big coat on I hear people laugh at her i look up bored and she cries and runs We star throwing stuff at her and she tries to hide this starts to get old She hugs her legs and we put her to sleep im forced to take her home

And shes stupid to know why the trees change in the fall.

And i know that she is scared of every little thing and all She thinks snow whites house very near how dumb but i know we had the worst day ever today.

she starts acting like shes 13 and thinks everyone is mean
She starts crying
And i push her away and cut her with my keys and she starts to drive and drive until she found a town far enough away
And she sulks and walks and tries to forget all our names

And she know if shes ever going to finish school And she knows shell never laugh cause we shrunk and she grew she dont know how lng itll take to feel okay but she knows she had the wors day ever today

She had a bullying father She thought she was getting stronger Her mom beats up her little brother inside and out hes more popular than she is She grew up in an ugly house and had no space to run and she had the worst days with me there was a video i found from back when we were three she was trying to paint in the kitchen and she was talking to me it was the age of teasing and bullying and throwing eggs at her window

And her dad was super dumb and i was the most handsome boy in the whole wide world and now she knows why all the trees change in the fall and she knows i was never on her side and always said she was wrong and she hates me for giving her the evil eyes and making her feel like she could shine and i dont know if she knew so im taking this chance to say that i always have the worst days when im with you.
