I walked into a chair today
'Cause I was thinking about you
Your face jumped right in my way
Like lately things do
Oh, baby can't you see
The thought of you makes a mess of me
I walked into a chair today
'Cause I was thinking about you and now I
I can't walk straight, I can't talk straight
I can't think about anything but the way
It should be and it could be
And till you come around again I will be
Doing what I usually do
Thinking about you
I get lost when I drive around town
Thinking about your smile
I always end up on your side of town
And I don't know why
There must be something under this hood
That's got a mighty strong liking to you
I walked into a chair today
'Cause I was thinking about you and lately
I can't walk straight, I can't talk straight
I can't think about anything but the way
It should be and it could be
And till you come around again I will be
Doing what I usually do
Thinking about you
Your eyes are the color of the deep blue sea
The one that I go swimming in every time you look at me
I can't walk straight, I can't talk straight
I can't think about anything but the way
It should be and it could be
And till you come around again I will be

Doing what I usually do
Thinking about you
I walked into a chair today
'Cause I was thinking about you...
