The wind claimd these words
As the night claims the day
And I start to rise
Rise up these streets
It's a long walk home
When you've been here all day
These days you don't ask for
Something more
The wind takes a deep breath
Then blows through the curtains
To wake me from our dreams
Dream, I'll leave you to dream
Of a place where could sleep
Under a willow tree
These days you don't ask for
Something more
Oh take me away
Take me away
