she said i can do that it wouldn't take nothin' but a whole lotta heart, iron will and gumption i'll just use what the good lord gave me so don't call me honey and don't call me baby don't call me baby

i ride high in the saddle always saddle my own horse still i'm every inch a lady from the outside to the core i take the trail less traveled
'cause i know where it leads
i live my life
by the cowgirl creed

i dream as big as texas work hard and i'm faithful i never cease to be amazed, dedicated and grateful i try to be a good hand when a hand's what's needed and i'll stay that way long as i'm livin' and breathin' and i'll die with my boots on
i live my life
by the cowgirl creed

i can hear my heroes on the western wind say "what's holdin' you back, what's keepin' you in, runnin' scared, that ain't no way to live, tear down those fences and ride like the wind" i think the world looks a lot better from the back of a good horse where i can see forever see just what i'm shootin' for i love this life that i've been given i'm right where i'm 's'posed to be

i live my life
by the cowgirl creed
