I sleep with my hands across my chest
And I dream of you with someone else
I feed my body with things that I don't need until I sink to the bottom
Don't act like it came as a surprise
Don't believe me even look into these eyes

This can't go on, so I should just
Regret it, regret it, regret it
And even though I left you I'll
Forget it, forget it, forget it

I'm going missing for a while
I've got nothing left to lose
I'll listen to anything

I still remember how you moved
And I taste your scent on my lips
Well, how it started I will never know
But now I've reached my limit

This can't go on, so I should just
Regret it, regret it, regret it
And even though I left you I'll
Forget it, forget it, forget it

I'm going missing for a while
I'll listen to anything

I'm going missing for a while
I'll listen to anything

Do you ever want to wear your body out
Until there's nothing left to take
The one began to push away
As midnight come to soon again

I'm going missing for a while
I'll listen to anything

I've got nothing in defense
I'll listen to anything

I sleep with my hands across my chest
And I dream of you with someone else
