There's nothing wrong with wanting to dance the night
away,
You always looked so clean and tidy anyway.

Underneath you're not well,
What if I was sick like you,
Underneath it all your cheap,
What if I was cheap like you,

There go the men that cannot see beyond your skin,
Hot beneath your collar every time you look at him,

What's it like to really surrender?
What's it like to really give in?

It's not a crime to want to leave the house tonight,
I know a place that can control you in your plight.

Underneath you're not well,
What if I was sick like you,
You had to take some days off ill,
What if I was weak like you,

You used to come around here almost all the time,
No reservations just assuming you were mine,

What's it like to really surrender?
What's it like to really give in?
What's it like to really surrender?
What's it like to give everything?

Test your blood with suspicion,
They harbour thoughts of extradition,
It shouldn't happen to a man in your position,
Test your blood with suspicion.

What's it like to really surrender?
What's it like to really give in?
What's it like to really surrender?
What's it like to give everything?
