"Between Today And Tomorrow"

I lost all track of time these past hours
But some time today I heard you say we're through
But some time between today and tomorrow
I've got to learn to live without you
I know the sun will rise again tomorrow and with it comes the dawn of a new day
And as the world let it go on living so must I go on living somehow someday
They say the time heals all wounds even heart breaks
So in time I may outlive this sorrow
If I can just make it through the crucial hour
The time between today and tomorrow
The time between today and tomorrow
