"One Eye For A Thousand"

Eyes Â– a thousand eyes waiting below the waves Â–
Because above the rain burns
My past becomes a lie Goodbye sense of awareness Â– I drink adrenaline like mother's milk, it soothes me Remove all that I trust, all I'm ashamed for, state of remission, I feed of the vulture
I'm left breathless Â– The Battle is lost
One step takes a thousand miles Â– One black circle where I expected sun
One blind spot Â– One eye for a thousand eyes
Where I begun: underwater I'm reborn I got stuck in the nether on a lonely cloud, while the heat burns my feathers
We're all homeward bound Â– With a roar I dive down and I greet the seas
With words from an opiate verse

I am waiting for
One hand to raise a thousand fists
One moment caught in a thousand times
One blind spot
One eye for a thousand eyes
One place to long for
And I surrender to my pride

Goodbye

These eyes have seen the abyss
This mouth has told a thousand lies My hands are washed in guilt and I face my own reflection's flight
What are you waiting for
You are left with Nothing
