In a show of hands, who has said these words before?
With a show of hearts on the floor, who has ever meant them more?

Well I'll swallow my pride if you'll stay for the years
And watch me spin circles as I disappear
Hearts, they don't lie they just quiver in fear
As you say (say)

Tonight we, forget everything
And we stay-ay the night
If I was wrong then I'm sorry
I'll stop this fight
For the night

And this empty space left in the seat
To my right where you should be says a lot
Don't let it say goodbye
Don't let it say goodbye
Let It say goodbye

Forget everything
And we stay-ay the night
If I was wrong then I'm sorry
I'll stop this fight
For the night

To my right where you should be says a lot

And today I know that tomorrow will shine again golden
and bring our hearts back home
And today I know that tomorrow will shine again golden
and bring our hearts back home
And today meant nothing, because you're gone(And today I know that tomorrow Will shine again golden and bring our hearts back home)
And I swear that this meant everything to me, because my hearts not home (And today I know that tomorrow will shine again golden and bring our hearts back home)
