"A Dimension Of Stars And Eclipse"

As I gaze into the eye of Horus
The hourglass is turning upside down
This is my death sentence
This is my life, bleeding black

You failed to control what you created
Don't you ever try to look back
I'll always be there to embrace your death
Behold the utmost power

Oh, fraternity, how can I fight a world so cold alone?
Where is He when I can't reach the atmosphere?

Everything's absorbed to another realm
And even the greatest light of hope

And in the end, we are turning back to dust

So, what are we fighting for if there's nothing left to keep in this dimension of stars and eclipse?

Oh, fraternity, how can I fight a world so cold alone?
Where is He when I can't reach the atmosphere?

Now, our mistakes lead us to our graves
But I know that You will always be mine, forever and after
