Its winter again,
a white washed and frozen sky.
I came to the door,
eyes maladjusted from the light.
But your voice rang clear.
You said, "For all I thought Id ever need,
its hard to face the holidays without..."

Well Ive left my last message on your machine.
Its hard to face the holidays when youre looking for the
words to say.
When youre looking for the words to say.

So you found a friend
to spend all your cold nights with him.
But if I was there,
then Id wonder why
you still wear my jacket closed, with traces of my scent.

And Id say "For all I thought Id ever need,
its hard to face the holidays without."

Well Ive left my last message on your machine.

Its hard to face the holidays when youre looking for the
words to say.

So stay with me here,
nose to nose,
cold enough to see as our breath
slowly escapes and exchanges
from my lungs to yours,
from your mouth to mine.
For all I thought I'd ever need,
it's hard to face the holidays without...

Well Ive left my last message on your machine,
its hard to face the holidays when youre looking for the
words to say.

Stay with me here,

nose to nose,
cold enough to see as our breath,
looking for the words to say,
when youre looking for the words to say....
