Always knew the pyro would come out in you
It just took some patience
Then again I'm always right You'd think you were dying so you drift it passes time
It brings out the lesser in life
All is mine in the closed eye life frustration's about to break the silence
The dark so nice when twitches progress
I make the calls sweat pouring by thousands Set up the lights alarms shouldn't come like this
All is mine in the closed eye life frustration's about to
break the silence
I'm not ready to part Come on you can't leave me like this Make your move fast so relieving this will last through your passing away
Your Passing away
break the silence
