

Maylene And The Sons Of Disaster "Waiting On My Deathbed"

Visit "Waiting On My Deathbed" on MotoLyrics.com

Lying here in wait on my deathbed
Open air still fills my lungs
Not proud of everything I've done
But at least you know I did it well

(Feels like I'm walking on a tightrope)
Can't step on either side
I'm a hollow man but you still know who I am

I'm not going down until I get there
Break my back cause this is all I know
Still living life out on the edge
Still moving on the narrow path

For every dream I threw away on a dirt road
I've been dying way too long
I looked fate in the eye, kissed her good-bye
And I keep moving on
This mission ride is where I found my life
Say what you will, make no mistake
It's time we put up a fight
A hollow man but you still know who I am

Visit Maylene And The Sons Of Disaster page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.