

The Amenta "Erebus"

Visit "Erebus" on MotoLyrics.com

And West once more.
Beyond swirling of spitting seas
Past immense gates of bloody iron.
Trapped, the animal bites through limbs in steel teeth
The human succumbs, meekly
And they have souls ?
Shall we discuss boulders?
Slick with tears or blood.
Or a flaming wheel.
Bearing some screaming wreck
It will always return, for the weak
Of Course

We need not bow to the choking shroud
(the shroud of Erebus)

Souls as bronze anvil, fell nine days
18 from heaven to crash on cold rock
When did we begin feeding on that lie
When did we accept our own cages
We need not bow down to the choking shroud
The shroud of Erebus
Why a life snuffed out in darkness ?
Why trudge towards a disappearance ?
No boulders or flaming wheels
Shall we talk of crawling chaos ?
They are your chains. Not mine

Learn strength, worms
I will not sink to your level
A nine day journey to darkness
Ah, Nyx. Close your womb
Your children are heavy

Visit The Amenta page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.