Hold your hand take the tiny table just for you and I'll pretend old friends couldn't cut it up like we did then
flash a smile
all the while I've been thinking about all this nothing I've been getting something more is what I'm needing if you would look right through anything that keeps you from being my being all that I've been needing if you would look right through anything that keeps you back what will it take to make you love me?

near the end but I wish that this would last forever I'll pretend to get lost just to make it last a little longer flash a smile

you said I make you laugh? well you make my heart sing...
