Don't, dont give in to the things that you dispair use, use your mind, you may find why they are there.

Don't, don't give in to the things that you dispise use, use ur hands pull the strands out of ur eyes

I could have cried to see you hide behind your hiar
Smile, little gurl and show the world that you are there

Think, think it out, think about what you perceive Â—you world is small if that is all that you believe.

I could have cried to see you hide behind your hiar
Smile, little gurl and show the world that you are there

Or does it astound you that there's a world around you?
