I'm giving up and going home, way too responsible and feeling so old.
i crank it up all the way to ten, though it won't make me feel young again.
make your move tonight. you're walking, i'm running out of time.
broke the news and i'm broken-hearted, don't want to leave you behind.
you know you're right, what a joke. how all i care about
is rock'n'roll.
there's more to life, i've been convinced.
but i can't quit, i'm only dreaming. always dreaming.
i've been thinking it's finally sinking in, it's wearing thin.
love it, hate it, can't change it, it's just the way it is, i'll never win
