So you think that you're in love, but you're not.
it isn't anything like you thought.
while you wait by the door, you'll realize that you need more.
so you do all that you can to keep her, to keep him,
from leaving.
you don't want to be alone out on your own.
so you'll stay miserable.
when she sits on your lap, she'll stay on your mind.
he's everything to you, but then he'll leave you behind.
but you stay.
we're both in the same boat.
if one of us get out, then what we have will drown, if we stay.
she's everything to you, but then she'll leave you
behind.
but you stay
