Behind close doors, when will you see?

A broken man, torn to pieces

Thinking of what, we could've been,

If he just turned away from me

Cause I will bring you to your knees

Or will you beg to see me cry

And give you all the time you need

To change your lines,

Change your lines away from me

The morning comes, I still can't see

The meaning to this curse

That I can't escape,

To see the beauty of moonlight
