"Show me a sign!"
I scream I scream
"Then maybe I, then maybe I can believe"
How much convincing do I really need
After everything that's already been

This master craft of certainty
Being so sure of what I cannot see
It's another kind of frequency
It's some other way to make believe

And now my faith it over rides
The clockworks of my mind
As I throw my caution into Your winds
It's some other adrenalin

Not everything is understood
Oh merely with a brain
Although I wish it could
But hope knows it all too well
Just sitting unafraid on this carousel

As my faith it over rides
The clockworks of my mind
As I throw my caution into Your winds
It's some other adrenalin

Cause I'm all in and there's nothing that I can do
But hold my breath while I am waiting here for you
I'll be sitting on your promise like a stubborn mule
Just the flip of Your switch and we'll all be through Cause I'm all in tell me what are You gonna do
When all of my hopes in You.
