these break up songs make sense again and I really wish they didn't Sinatra's singing Summer Wind and I'm thinking of the night we met just one last time can I hear you say you're my little boy I never want you to go away

where are you? please beleive in me I'm not hanging up the phone til' I hear you say I love you I need you near just give me one last chance and I'll never let you down again

oh and what I wouldn't give just to kiss your lips again to hold your hand next to my heart wake up with you in our apartment just one last time can I call you my sweetheart, my bestfriend why do all good things come to an end?

where are you? please beleive in me I'm not hanging up the phone til' I hear you say I love you I need you near just give me one last chance and I'll never let you down again
