Left alone

Your voice once gave me

The comfort to continue

Two thousand miles

I'm hopeless and broken

You're gutless and hoping to run into hope

And this isn't getting any easier

They won't understand it

What you've hidden from them

This isn't getting any easier

So is this what you wanted?

Too bad, it's what you got

So should this be my farewell?

Come on, you know me too well

Once again, your lies still give me

The heartache to continue

One thousand miles

You're coming closer

It's been so long I can hardly remember

This is getting so much easier

They won't understand it

What you've hidden from them

And this is getting so much easier

So is this what you wanted?

Too bad, it's what you got

So should this be my farewell?

Come on, you know me too well

Come on, you know me too well

Once again, your lies still give me

The heartache to continue

So is this what you wanted?

Too bad, it's what you got

So should this be my farewell?

Come on, you know me too well
Come on, you know me too well
