And like I've said before, I'll watch you fall away
Fading out in the distance after a daylight robbery
And like I've seen before, I'll watch us both decay from these stupid answers eating away at me
What an amazing way to say- How did we turn out this way?
Take the fight into the streets before I claim defeat
I've just got to let you know, before I let you go
That you'll never get away with it

Everything, everything I'm feeling when you looked away
I replaced all the meaning
Every time, every time I stood by step back, you're way too close to me Everything, everything I fell for Have another drink and pass out before I have any more Everything, everything you're seeing Stop staring, your eyes just bother me

And everything I've ever wanted to be has been handed to me
With a big manual and a long in-depth itinerary
And if I could be anything then I would be just strong enough to choose what I would be if I could become anything

And I'll sing, and I'll stall, and I'll sit and wait for a miracle.
