Lately I've been thinking about everything
I just miss the days when I used to miss you

And now this soundtrack has been playing on my fears
Now every note is a lie yeah every line you'll hear

Sing me a symphony of false pretenses and admirable
intentions
Carrying me to a place where I can find myself again

I can't find time to sing this melody tonight
Maybe another chorus or two
It's funny that we never talk, but when we do
Our choice of words lights up the room
Yeah

Sing me a symphony of false pretenses and admirable
intentions
Carrying me to a place where I can find myself

I took the road to lead to different destinations
My broken heart leads to further complications
My broken soul cries out in despiration
I need you, I need you
(X2)

Sing me a symphony of false pretenses and admirable
intentions
Carrying me to a place where I can find myself again
(X2)
