"The Cliff"

You know that I was trying to do the things well in the past my heart is broken and you are gone the pain grows in my mind the faces come from all around i see you in all of them and walk among my lonely thoughts i lost track of myself.

This is my life without you.

I threw my feelings in a grave you are begging now so late please don't drag yourself to death without you I found my way i was so blind I was so deaf i couldn't be myself the cliff was high I was so scared the pain was not the pain.

I want my life without you.

You were all that I wanted you were all that I needed you didn't show no mercy you almost broke my wings
you were all that I wanted
i won't show any mercy now I'm using my wings.
