Visit "Blinded" on MotoLyrics.com

You can't try to change somebody on the inside
You can't try to strip me of my pride
You can't take away my life
Because everyone's born to be themselves
You won't have control over me

Your soul is screaming for the truth
Open your eyes it's right in front of you

All the kids at school try to tell you who to be
What to wear, where to go, and who to see
I won't give up without a fight
You can't take away my human rights
You won't have control over me

Your soul is screaming for the truth
Open your eyes it's right in front of you
