I borrowed, I begged for, forgiveness
The taste of blood in my mouth, is telling me to stop and walk away, stop and walk away
But I don't think this thing will end not until one of us is dead, one of us is dead.
Blow for blow I take it in One last step, that extra mile

Pull no punches, half hearted glances
Look to kill, cos you wont see this chance again
Pull no punches, half hearted glances
Cos the day we quite is the day we die

The taste of blood in my mouth, is telling me to stop
and walk away, stop and walk away
But I don't think this thing will end not until one of us is
dead, one of us is dead.
One of us is dead.

The blood still left in my veins
Drowns the sound around me
Pushing harder
Beating faster
I was the king and you were my queen
