Bet you think you're special don't ya girl
You don't include me in your social world
You're such a pillar of society
To those friends who say how much they love your personality
Independent girl, independent girl Independent girl, I am the skid mark on your social world
I see your pictures in the magazine
I see you moving in the latest scene
But when you think you've got me on a string
I'm gonna be the egg stain on your chin
You're just a bit too independent girl
