Do you still think I'm the one?
And do you still think I'm the one?
And I bet you thought this was fun
And I guess that I jumped the gun with this one becauseÂ....

Last night I realized from the start
That you said three words too early on Wrote a letter that never saw daylight
The only question that I have is
Are you alright
Or was it just lies
You've got those wandering eyes that keep me questioning how you feel
They keep me questioning all the time are you for real

Tell your mother not to go
While I'm passed out on the floor
At least help me up to save some face for tonight

And I hate these moments when We act like there's nothing left to say Compulsive drama without no delay and
You can't keep a secret can you?
Are we alright
Or was it all lies
And if you're leading me on I'm staying in my room from now on
This is my last attempt at love
Now is this useless?
Just confess cause it's all your fault I'm a mess

Tell your mother not to go
While I'm passed out on the floor
At least help me up to save some face for tonight
Tell me once why we can't meet
Lying passed out in the street
Let the passers-by decide what's right for tonight

What do you really want?
You keep bouncing back and forth

And do you even know what you want?

You've got to make up your mind now
I know that you like fooling around But everything's all fun and games until someone gets hurt
