There's only one thing I have left to say
What will it take for you to notice me
And for a second can you step out from that light
So much attention that it makes you cry and...

Can you admit just for once?
That you were wrong and I was on
I think you need me more than this
I think you need me way more than you'd say

Attraction doesn't mean satisfaction
And I've been waiting here on this line
For a shot at the prize, for a shot at your heart
The way things are going right now, looks like I'll always be waiting

Do you think that it's strange?
That when I say your name
It'll make me insane every time

Can you admit just for once?
That you were wrong and I was on
I think you need me more than this
I think you need me way more than you'd say

Attraction doesn't mean satisfaction
And I've been waiting here on this line
For a shot at the prize, for a shot at your heart
The way things are going right now, looks like I'll
always be waiting

Am I really that invisible or do you really just not care at all

One more time
One last night
We'll do things right
Sing to me, sing to me
