oh well, the shitpile caught on fire, it seems like natural selection, property values were plummeting anyway, didnt say they hear the people say,
"cant we all just get along?"
sounds good to me as long as you stay in your shitty and now crispy little town, whos fault was it when south central burned to the ground?
judicial rape perpetrated by the state?
two hundred or so years of stored up rage?
its something that i think about, how upset people are,
and i havent any reason to complain, plenty of good food, good friends, a nice apartment to live in,
and still i dont feel all that great, whell im content but im not satisfied, it makes it hard to live your fucking life, a tv and a 6 pack dictate my day, im stupid, soft and lazy, i forgot how to be brave, and it looks like ill never have to learn, complacency is the smoke alarm that insures that white cities never burn fall asleep in the living room, accept your poisoning, subdued by news cops or slogans, so it aint perfect but i hear this land is free, but whos so free these days?

not the children who barely eat, you probably wont find them on the cover of Newsweek, thrown in a sea of green, the rich stay afloat, hey im fucking drowning, 150,000 walked these streets today, thats 150,000 good reasons to scream but our brain-washed minds are hardened, hands work and die to keep america rolling, fabricated crime state rise 100,000 new police, they dont care about people, just profitable prisons, drop a bomb every now and then build obedience, patriotism,

too bad the bombs were pointed at civilians, just like you and me, only overseas, problems at home remain, murder used to boost the economy,
and their gleaming smiles, help keep you proud, forget, smile, bow your head down, stop, admit that they're killing us, who are you giving all your trust, breaking your back is that what freedom really costs?
well freedom isn't really begging for your food, how can you tear down the homes we live in?
build condominiums, they've got a clean-up crew and the 5:00 news to reinforce it, pulling sheets over the sheeps' heads blame the poor, call the bums and thieves but do you know who are the real thieves? white upper class steal everything to maintain this class elite, they've got us seeing green food and clothing are no privileges,
they are necessities,
don't believe your tv, it's thought control brought to you by nbc tears are not enough to change a system, do we want an equal race for education, shop, buy, consume, this is what we teach our children to look up to, economic security doesn't seem to be the meaning of education to me, we need to teach about diversity, compassion and love,

about the effects of technology, to be aware that we destroy while we consume, to question all authority, no money for public education but ample funds to keep people in prison, jails can now be run by major corporations, prisons offer more and cheaper labor, found courage in the center of a bomb, green back dollars,
we can blow up anything we want, since when is national defense more important than teaching children,
I'm afraid it's always been, state of the union, catch phrase builds public opinion in the closed eyes of a nation,
work around the problem, sweep it under carpets, lock it up in prisons till it's forgotten, we're approaching the millennium, education is more important than bombs, more police on the streets isnt solving problems, who are we going to turn to to teach our children to question this machine, education,

the dead american dream, in indiana the number of cells built is determined by the socio-economic status of a class of second graders,
the cells all must be filled, with every prison that we build we lose four or five more schools,
tears are not enough

blah blah blah edwin eisendrath blah blah blah cha, blah blah blah nothings that important to me
