...in this here gold mine, we hate coyotes...
You are my everlasting love
And your water magnifies the spark
So blame me if you want tonight
It's just never felt so right
Sound the sirens
Lock the doors
Everything is Nothing more
I tried to take the road more traveled
Now I'm stranded in her dirt and gravel
I lost myself in losing you
My porous heart
Unveils the truth
Until my heart is drained
Do you think I'm wrong
Much better, much better without one
You are my everlasting love
And your water magnifies the spark
So blame me if you want tonight
It's just never felt so right
I'll wish you away

[repeat to end of song]
