

The Carpenters

"Now"

Visit "Now" on MotoLyrics.com

Now

Now when it rains I don't feel cold

Now that I have your hand to hold

The winds might blow through me

But I don't care

There's no harm in thunder if you are there and

Now

Now when we touch my feelings fly

Now when I'm smiling I know why

You light up my world like the morning sun

You're so deep within me we're almost one

And now

All the fears that I had start to fade

I was always afraid love might forget me

Love might let me down

Then look who I found

The winds might blow through me

But I don't care

There's no harm in thunder if you are there and

And now, now

Now when I wake there's someone home

I'll never face the nights alone

You gave me the courage I need to win

To open my heart and to let you in

And I never really knew how until now, until now

No, I never really knew how until now

Visit The Carpenters page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.