You're so alarmed by every twist, the pain again how they let you down Routinely scarred by the world its scenes obscene soberly push you around Your decorated lace innocence is so profound Just keep an eye out from behind it so they'll notice you're still around So you go to your friends and they love to look inside of you You're as sweet as you can be - Step Down, you're through

You talk aloud behind the doors and backs of people whose help you've found Parading, always trading privileged words that help you to win the crowd Easy to light up a silhouette with quotes too loud They'll realize when all complaints have dried that you'd never sell them out Cause you know they're your friends and they love you look inside it's true You're as sweet as you can be - Step Down, you're through

With an extreme amount of candor You'd be lost but very good
And in between responsibilities
You could rule the neighborhood
But your scheming isn't stood Still you scream - but not at me (scream)
(instrumental break)

Don't dry your eyes to proudly wear the proof that suddenly I've let you down (I don't wanna go unless you let me) Another reason for you not to live just stay home and kick around (I don't wanna know until you tell me)
Just one more slap to your innocence - it all compounds So while you're struggling from beneath make sure they don't catch you looking down (I don't wanna know unless you let me)

Then you tell all your friends it's the last time but they know more than you You're as sweet as you could be - Step Down
You're as sweet as you could be - Step Down

You're as sweet as you could be - Step Down (Sweet as you can be)
You're as sweet as you could be - Step Down
(Sweet as you can be)
You're as sweet as you could be - Step Down
(Sweet as you can be)
You're as sweet as you could be - Step Down You're as sweet as you can be (Sweet as you can be)
