"In Between"

Turns out everything is ok
But that's not the way it's always been
Time was everything bad outside
Was all in my head

Here comes the night here comes the rain
Here comes the morning in between to bring back the pain
Here comes the night here comes the rain
Here comes the morning in between to bring back the
pain

Time was I used to stare at my feet
Counting up cracks getting up the nerve
I'm gonna whip this mess color over the lines
Spit off a bridge then kick up some dirt

I want to thank you for being 'round
To scare away what brings me down
I want to feel your cool serenade
And if the clouds form again will you stay?

Here comes the night here comes the rain
Here comes the morning in between to bring back the
pain
Here comes the night here comes the rain
Here comes the morning in between to bring back the
pain

Turns out everything is alright
'cause I see more than what's inside me
When curses freeze my soul I keep in mind
Most of what's real is what you believe

Here comes the night here comes the rain
Here comes the morning in between to bring back the
pain
Here comes the night here comes the rain
And if the clouds form again will you stay
