She is sitting all alone but he sent flowers
All alone she sits there thinking this is not right
Then she questions all the thoughts at home for hours
He offers nothing in return for her to sit tight

Her dreams are tired and black
The stars are all falling down
I won't make a sound
She just sleeps right through the day when the suns up
Never knowing how to finish her dreams
All her friends will go away when she wakes up
She won't need them when there's something to believe in

The nighttime isn't so kind
Tonight her dreams they define
I won't change her mind
She says don't miss me
I will be all right
Because I'm not alone
I will be all right
She says don't miss me
I will be all right

She says don't leave me tonight
She wonders why it's not right
She sees the visions in flight
I will hold on tight
I won't give her a fight
She says don't miss me
I will be all right,

Because I'm not alone
I will be all right (x6)
