It's been a long, long time since everything was cool
I shoulda seen it coming but I guess I'm not the only fool

There's something growin' on the outside
Too much missin' on the inside Should I waste my time and let you lead me on and on and on and on

Waiting on the day when I'm complete
Without you I'm doing what I can to let you be Making sure there's nothing showing on the outside
Something's dying on the inside
I'm still broken but I'm free
I'll see you on the flipside

I've got a bruised up heart
But I'm still hangin' out
I should take it easy but I'm still gonna get around
There's something growing on the outside
Too much missing on the inside Should I waste more time when everything is done and done and overdone

Waiting for the day when I'm complete
Without you I'm doing what I can to let you be Making sure there's

Nothing showing on the outside
Something's dying on the inside
I'm still broken but I'm free
I'll see you on the flipside

I'll see you on the flipside
Nothin' showing on the outside
Something's dying on the inside

Waiting for the day when I'm complete
Doing what I can to let you be

Nothing showing on the outside
Something's dying on the inside
I'm still broken but I'm free

I'll see you on the flipside
