We're not afraid, just calm, collected and
underestimated
This feeling in my gut has told me everything I want to know
I know I'm not the boy I used to be
But, we're not running away (away)

Comparably, this affects you and me
Just as much as those we care to know
So know
Now that we're both here
Try to make this sound sincere
I don't dislike wishes, just your plans

We're not afraid, just calm, collected and
We're not afraid, we're not, we're not
When every breath and every moment
That passes by, shows them what we're made of

We're coming closer and closer
But there's no end
Just places further and further
From where we began
We're coming closer and closer
But there's no end
Just places further and further
From where we began

We've got, we've got plans
We've got, we've got plans
We've got, we've got plans
Your heartbeat sounds desperate
So make us your favorite

(We won't stop, if you keep listening)
