In this fading image
We'll carve our destiny
Sometimes life is a cruel friend
Sometimes that's what we need
I'll hold my eyes when the Light comes in
I'll sell my silence for a song
Now I won't die if you walk away
But I may not live
Now I watch as the rain comes down
To purify this pain
When mountains crumble and
Stars collide
I am what remains
There are lessons that sadness
Can only teach
There are things that we must learn
Now I won't die if you walk away
But I may not live
