A year ago, today we stood
Above this same awakening world
I held you
You never wanted me to know

Another year ago, today
Before this same awakening world
I held you
I never meant to let you go

There was a moment
There always is
When time stood still
And always was this

One endless moment
You turn in pain
And I always let you go
Over and over again

A year ago, tonight we lay
Below this same remembering sky
I kissed you
You never wanted me to know

Another year ago, tonight
Behind the same remembering sky
I kissed you
I never meant to let you go

Another moment
There always is
As time stands still
And always is this

One endless moment
You tell me all
And I hold you and I kiss you
And I never let you go

I never let you go
I never let you go

Never let you go
Never let you go
I never let you go
