For a second of your life tell me that it's true
Waiting for a sign it's all I want of you
Your heart hides a secret the promise of what is
Or something more than this?

Just a second of your time any one will do
The taste of any other is all I want from you
Offer me the world and how can I resist
Something more than this?

Make-believe in magic make-believe in dreams
Make-believe in possible nothing as it seems
To see, touch, taste, smell, hear
But never know if it's real
(But never know if it's real)

For a second of your life tell me if it's true
Anywhere beyond it's all I want of you
On your lips lies a secret the promise of a kiss
Or something more than this?

Just a second of your time any one will do
To know of any other is all I want from you
Giving me the world know I can't resist
Something more than this

Make-believe in magic make-believe in dreams
Make-believe in possible nothings as it seems
And never really understand
What anything means
(What anything means)

Another second of my life not knowing if it's true
Make-believe in nothing it's all I want of you
Whisper me the secret whisper me there is Always something other something more than this
