"Wake Up"

I came to your house to get you out of all this shit that held you down
And I've been using my whole world
To help you change that, around

I know
That I need you to help my mind pull through With everything that happened and I can't stop anything at all
But I can make it all go faster

So speed it up, speed it up
Don't drag it out
And in the night
You will find what I'm all about;
It's more than just a phone call asking how the weathers been

I hear it's nice
I heard the news
But I really wish it'd rain.
To stop the day, to hold me back
God, I really hope you stay
Cause all my friends, I just hate
But I know things are gonna change
And everything will finally make sense
Yeah, things will finally make sense

So when I wake up I'll be bringing things to peace with all my strength.
You know that way things change when music takes up my life,
And I just want to hear you,
Cause I know just how it feels

I'll sell you short, and stay away
But god knows some how this will work out
Because I'm not tired of writing songs
No I'm not tired
I need you so bad

I hear it's nice

I head the news
But I really wish it'd rain.
To stop the day, to hold me back
God, I really hope you stay
Cause all my friends, I just hate
But I know things are gonna change
And everything will finally make sense
Yeah, things will finally make sense

So speed it up, speed it up
Don't drag it out
And in the night
You will find what I'm all about;
It's more than just a phone call asking how the
weathers been
