Is it too late to say I'm sorry I couldn't stay
Been pulling apart for many nights
I used to wait to be the next piece that you would play
I used to wait all the time
You know me, I'll be there
Making everything alright
But I won't stand for it tonight

You taught be to be in and out
You built a door for us that only ever opened your way
I'm done defending everything
Now I only want to take a chance to
Take a chance to, take a chance to try and forget

I fought the urge to leave this grounded in the past
But I can see through an empty smile
I can't stand this idleness when I'm too blame
You barely notice that I'm alive
You know me, I'll be there
Making everything alright
But I won't stand for it tonight

You taught me to be in and out
You built a door for us that only every opened your way
I'm done defending everything
Now I only want to take a chance to
Take a chance to, take a chance to try and forget

Are you over it now?
You're innocently ominous
How can that be now?
Because I'm already out
I'm what's spent from what you had
No I won't settle down!

You taught me to be in and out
You built a door for us that only every opened your way
I'm done defending everything
Now I only want to take a chance to
Take a chance, take a chance to try and forget
