You say that you're not going to change
But the future's so small from far away
And If it's loud enough to hear
Then speak and don't stay near
And know that every word you say
Can be heard from far away

Well I don't know who you're trying to be
But I'm wishing for you the same
You really had to go
Take your chance to leave
One felt lonely for the first time

You worked for months and watched it change
Now it stays timeless in the frame
But if it's loud enough to hear
Then speak and don't stay near
You won't always get your way
There's a price you always pay

Well I don't know who you're trying to be
But I'm wishing for you the same
You really had to go
Take your chance to leave
One felt lonely for the first time

Today today today's unknown
Everybody's on their own
My only friend at times will be
ME!

Well I don't know who you're trying to be
But I'm wishing for you the same
You really had to go
Take your chance to leave
One felt lonely for the first time

Well I don't know who you're trying to be
But I'm wishing for you the same
You really had to go
Take your chance to leave

One felt lonely for the first time
