I'll try to make this quick and painless
But I'll admit I've never felt this bad

Honestly, I didn't think it was a possibility

You should have thought twice
The first time you looked closer
Little white lies, they don't like to be alone
Oh what, what could i say
That would keep you from always running away
Little white lies..

You walked into the room with your hand in mine
But you wouldn't look into my eyes

Oh honestly, i didn't think it was a possibility
I never saw anything coming
And this is what you're giving me for loving

You should have thought twice
The first time you looked closer
Little white lies get bigger on their own

I should have thought twice
The first time i looked closer
I thought we were right
But i guess we'll never know
Oh, what, what can i say
That will keep you from always running away
Little white lies...
