A curse brought upon this earth alive, dead or something worse?
now we're halfway and hungry (is it) all we are, all we're supposed to be?
nothing left of what we never had, humanity thought we were above it,
"not us we won't succumb to it" didn't look forward didn't care would follow our fucking hunger anywhere now it's a free for all and freedom's gone
did it to ourselves
stuck in our own hell buried six feet down underground and have to claw our way out lets go! sever, bury, liberate heads from necks tossed this race in an unmarked grave fattened up and ready to go!
