Who are they to say we musn't
Who are they to say we dare not
Who are they to say
We're much too young

As if your age when it comes
To counting stars is any feature
As if before you can really fall in love
You need a note from the teacher

It's really not the same, it's hopeless
Love, they proclaim, it's senseless
And it's as if our song was left unsung

We're much too young
And the fact that we are young
Is what we're guilty of
I don't know who they are
But they've never been in love

We're much too young
And the fact that we are young
Is what we're guilty of
I don't know who they are
But they've never been in love

I don't know who they are
But they've never been in love
