she had her heart set on success going out, giving her best but it doesn't matter to her she can do anything to get on top of the world but misery left her face-down without a clue wondering when, or if she'd ever follow through she was a girl trapped inside a fantasy world couldn't recognize her own face and she had her heart set on success I bet she wouldn't even let herself kick back on the holidays, yeah

now everyone is gone, it's up to you to move one a fresh start and when you win this game, you know it's not the same when it comes from the heart
