it's all that you represent insults become a compliment I guess it's how it all begins it's murder! a shock to the heart when you're running but never getting far this is how it all should end and now you've got the nerve to say goodbye it's like you struggle no matter how hard you try and maybe we'll try again someday (story of your life, plan it for yourself...) or maybe not at all, I guess it all depends now (...the truth is that you're going no where fast) you just let it go heartbreak is your middle name you're beautiful but not the same and I feel like I'm falling down and when I fall I feel I can't get up again (can't get up again) so now we're back to where we once began it's like the ending of a movie where the girl he loves has run away from him so where's the sequel to a new beginning? where someone else takes him away this story ends with a boy who's losing out
